German Historian Denounces Ludendorff

Before the war Prof. Hans Delbrueck, of the University of Berlin, was one of the most noted of German publicists and military experts. During the war he was a staunch upholder of the German cause. Three years after the war he does not cease to be an upholder of the justice of the war from a German point of view, but he has also turned into a savage critic of Germany's military leaders, Ludendorff and Hindenburg. He says flatly that Tirpitz and Ludendorff are responsible for the wreck of Germany today, the first because his insensate naval ambitions and his refusal to agree to any limitation of his plans aroused the suspicion and later the hatred of Great Britain, and the latter because his military strategy and his insistence that he be the political head of the nation threw away, first, whatever chance Germany had for a victory in the field, and afterward ruined her chances of making a peace that might have seemed honorable, and would have given her the position of having fought an honorable war.

The Loquacious Ludendorff.

Prof. Delbrueck may have been goaded to angry speech by the fact that since the war Ludendorff has written three books of two volumes each, the purpose of every volume, every page, being to prove that he is a military genius and has no responsibility for the downfall of the German armies, that the blame rests entirely upon the German civil administrators, and that it would be a jolly good thing for all concerned if the Kaiser should be restored to his throne. Ludendorff seems to have protested too much. He is obviously conscious of the fact that there remains a great deal to be explained, and that the only explanation rests upon him. Hindenburg remains silent, with only occasional rumblings, but Hindenburg is in a different position from Ludendorff. Hindenburg was a military idol. Ludendorff never was. While the news leaked out that Hindenburg was merely the glorious figurehead and that Ludendorff was really the brains of the German army, there still remained something glorious about Hindenburg, even if it were only his tremendous looks. There was nothing glorious about Ludendorff.

Explaining Tannenberg.

Prof. Delbrueck, in a recent book, entitled "Ludendorff Painted by Himself," goes carefully over his actions in the Great War, and finds that his most brilliant operation was the retreat from South Poland in 1914, and the subsequent shifting of the German army northward to the Russian right flank. The completeness of the German victory at Tannenberg he attributes to a move by Gen. Otto von Bulow, comparable to the Nelson tactics at Copenhagen. Von Bulow acted on his own initiative and against orders from Hindenburg's headquarters. Surveying the rest of Ludendorff's career, the professor is unable to find much to admire.

Foch Was Amused.

He says that the original plans for the invasion of Belgium and France were modified in the Operations Section of the great General Staff at a time when Ludendorff was in charge of it. Instead of pushing the German right north toward the North Sea and the English channel, the German left wing was extended down to the Swiss border, a movement that the professor regards as a serious blunder. He says that Foch laughed at Ludendorff's strategy, calling it "buffalo strategy," though it is to be admitted that Foch has been too polite to make the assertion. The generalissimo, says Delbrueck, drew the logical conclusion that Germany's tactical successes "must lead eventually to ruin, since they were only half successes." For particular operations, Ludendorff had the necessary talent, but not for the "great strategic combinations and conceptions which the unprecedented scope of the World War demanded, especially not in situations in which he came in contact with politics, for which he had no competency whatever."

His Nerves Shattered.

He accuses Ludendorff with having frustrated all attempts made in 1917 and 1918 to secure a negotiated peace. With the aid of the Pope, diplomats were weaving the thread of a negotiated peace. Ludendorff either did not understand that a German victory had become impossible or else his pride forbade any yielding. He over-ruled Bethmann-Hollweg in regard to the U-boat war, and is said to have told the Kaiser that either the Chancellor would resign or he and Hindenburg would quit. He was, therefore, the first mutineer, as the historian says in reference to Ludendorff's charge that it was a mutiny among the civilians at home that caused the collapse of the German armies. Delbrueck does not spare Hindenburg, who, toward the end was not even told of the disposition of the various army corps. Ludendorff, after the summer of 1918, might profitably have been removed to a sanatorium. His nerves were broken, and he ordered one day what he would countermand the next.

IRRIGATION BOND SALE IS PLEASING.

"We are, of course, delighted with the splendid price brought by the United Irrigation district bonds, and I think it is very significant to see American financial houses so eager to pick up our irrigation bonds. It is pretty good evidence that the hard-headed business men across the line have faith in Southern Alberta to make good if given a fair chance." This is how G. N. Houston, secretary of the Irrigation Council, expressed himself on the recent sale of United district bonds to Murphy, Favre and Company, of Spokane, at 102.227.

Mr. Houston said it was really more than was expected. The United District is entitled to congratulations he said, on the particularly strong sale of their bond offering.

The Council has now practically completed its canvass of the Lethbridge Northern district for land listings, which makes it possible for the colonization branch to go ahead with the actual work of advertising. The policy as to advertising will be decided when Chairman L. C. Charlesworth comes south next week. The Council already has scores of names of prospective settlers, but will go after more.—Lethbridge Herald.

Third Crop Report.

Issued by Publicity Commissioner, Department of Agriculture, Edmonton, Friday, June 2nd, 1922.

Although warm weather during the latter half of May has brought rapid growth to crops in general in Alberta, and the grain is showing a healthy condition in most sections, a note of anxiety has crept into reports from some localities with respect to moisture conditions. Need of rain is emphasized in several of the reports received by the agricultural department from its agents. In the extreme southern areas rainfall has been fairly satisfactory, particularly in the southwestern section of the province, while further north, in some of the more central areas, need of moisture has been apparent. In the northern areas also there are dry spots, but conditions generally are good. There has been soil drifting to some extent in several southern localities, and the cutworms and grasshoppers are offering trouble in many sections. There will be no extensive suffering from lack of moisture, however, for another week or two. Seeding of grain is practically completed.

Southern areas.—Encouraging reports come from these areas with respect to moisture conditions, although in one or two localities there is need of rain, and there has been some soil drifting. Seeding of all grains is practically completed. Fall rye is showing growth of from eight to ten inches, and is headed out at Gleichen. Cutworms are causing damage in some districts, and grasshoppers are hatching out rapidly and in great numbers. Precipitation at Lethbridge for May was .89, at Gleichen .28. There has been generally splendid growth of grass on the prairies.

Central areas.—In the more southern portion of the more central areas, soil drifting has caused damage on the summerfallow, and on the lighter lands, in one or two places as high as 30 per cent. Moisture conditions are not entirely satisfactory but the grain is not suffering extensively as yet. Rainfall over the central areas averaged about two-thirds of an inch during May. Cutworms and wire worms are causing trouble in some localities and grasshoppers are hatching. Hay crops are showing rather poor growth, some timothy has been winter killed in some sections, but in more northern localities pasture conditions are good and livestock is picking up well.

Northern areas.—Grain is showing a fine, even growth, and there is no suffering as yet for lack of moisture. There have been no killing frosts. The potato crop is practically all in the ground, with reduced acreage in some localities. Pasture lands are showing much improvement.

Grasshoppers.—The campaign to combat the grasshopper pest is now well under way. Poison mixing stations are coming into operation. The farmers are actively co-operating in this work, and many districts are organizing community campaigns. The grasshoppers are now hatching out in large numbers over all the southern portion of the province.

SITTING BULL WANTED WHITE WIFE

Mr. John Stuttaford, a member of the first police expedition into this western country, says that the first white women entering the country were Mrs. Colonel Macleod and Mrs. Stuttaford. Mrs. Stuttaford was the mother of Mrs. F. Perkins of this town, and is the lady that Sitting Bull, the great Sioux Chief, tried to buy from her husband at Fort Walsh, Cypress Hills, in 1877, offering a great number of horses for her. Sitting Bull, it will be remembered was the Indian whose people caused so much trouble to the American authorities and who for many years resided on the Canadian side of the line, but was eventually taken back and placed on a reserve and escaping punishment rightfully deserved by him and his band for the many acts of violence they had committed during the early seventies.

CAPITAL GOSSIP AND PROVINCIAL NEWS

Arrangements have been made for the soil survey which is to be conducted by Dr. Wyatt under the auspices of the Department of Agriculture. Dr. Wyatt will have two parties in the field during the summer, and hopes to make his report this fall. He will cover a strip of territory 30 miles wide from Nanton east to Medicine Hat. He will also do some work in the Cavendish district.

Following the successful vote on the municipal hospital district scheme in the Grande Prairie district, plans are being made for a 20 bed hospital. The debenture issue of the district will be $30,000. The district includes 72 townships.

Relief Work.

Though many requests are still being received by the agricultural department from southern areas for continuance of relief in the way of food and other things the department is unable to carry on this work after June 1st, since the legislature at the last session gave power to issue relief only until that date. While the government is sympathetic in this matter, it has no power to go further. Requests recently have come in asking that the government aid farmers in securing new plough shares, and such like, but the government has no power to issue relief in this regard.

Immigration.

Figures from Ottawa show that 16,774 immigrants entered Canada since the first of the year, and that 8019 of these were from the U.S., 4528 from British countries and 4227 from other countries.

Liquor Act Commissioner

Appointment was announced the past week by Attorney-General Brownlee, of E. S. Bishop to the commissioner under the liquor act. Mr. Bishop has taken office at once, and will have his headquarters in Edmonton. Mr. Bishop will have charge of inspection work under the act, in connection with returns by doctors and druggists, and will deal with all complaints received by the department. He will, however, have nothing to do with the policing under the act, which has been put in charge of Sergeant Nicholson.

Sale of savings certificates by the Provincial Treasury Department has been brisk this year. During the first four months of the year certificates totalling $1,302,198, a greater amount than was realized in the whole of the year 1918. In keeping with the decline of interest rates on the money markets it is announced that the interest rate on savings certificates will be 4 1/2 per cent. instead of 5 per cent. from July 1st.

Special permits to teachers will expire in June. There are about 200 permit teachers now at work in the province. These permits will not be renewed unless necessary to keep schools going. Indications are that the surplus of teachers in the province is rapidly being absorbed.

Dr. W. C. Laidlaw, provincial deputy minister of health, is attending the annual meeting of the Canadian Public Health Congress at St. John, N.B. Health experts from all over Canada are in attendance.

The six new public health nurses, which it was announced some time ago, were being added to the staff of public health nurses in the department.

Hail Board Statement.

The municipal board at Calgary has issued an official statement offsetting recent press reports concerning its financial standing. The statement is as follows:

The newspaper reports of the last annual meeting of the Hail Insurance District, held in Calgary in March last, gave a very incorrect impression of the financial condition of the Hail Insurance District. One report was to the effect that the Board would have to reduce its liabilities before it could resume business. Another stated that the deficit on last year's operations was $1,000,000.00. Both these statements are entirely incorrect and very misleading.

The ability to "resume business" was never thought of, much less discussed, for the very excellent reason that business has not been suspended, nor is there any necessity or intention of suspending it. The damage by hail in 1921 was almost double the average of the last nine years and 50 per cent greater than the previous high record made in 1916. In spite of the record breaking amount of losses the Municipal Hail Insurance plan functioned without a hitch and is here to stay.

The actual deficit for last year was $274,742.96. This deficit was paid for out of the surplus of the two previous years and will have no effect on the rate to be set this year. This year's rate will depend on the amount of losses for this year, and on that alone.

Women's Institute Convention.

Prominent speakers will discuss important subjects at the annual convention of the Alberta Women's Institutes, and the Girls' Clubs, which is to be held in the Palliser Hotel, Calgary, June 13 to 17 inclusive. Hoadley, minister of agriculture, who will give an address on the subject, which is to be followed by discussion. The report of the education and better schools committee will be given at this session by Mrs. F. W. Hughes, Cavendish. There will be singing during the morning.

New Plans for Weed Control.

Plans which will put weed control in that province on a new basis, have been announced by the Provincial department of agriculture. These plans have been under consideration for some time and the details have been made public by H. A. Craig, deputy minister of agriculture. W. J. Stephen, recently appointed crops commissioner for the province, will have charge of the new work.

The newly formed plans involved not only appointment of weed inspectors but also contemplate courses of instruction for these inspectors, and a weed survey of the province which will provide a fund of practical knowledge concerning the weeds peculiar to each district, and methods for the eradication, which will prove of immense value to the department in carrying out their duties.

The first step in the new system has been taken the past week in the appointment of twenty weed inspectors. As far as possible, these inspectors will be placed in charge of districts in which they are absolute strangers, such a condition tending to a better enforcement of the regulations, it is contended.

The inspectors will cover all the unorganized territory in Southern Alberta, and will have charge of from 18 to 27 townships each. These inspectors are now taking their places in the field and are preparing for a preliminary survey of their territories. Contrary to former systems, these inspectors will be required to put in all their time at the new work.

One of their chief duties will be the weed survey of the territories assigned to them. This survey will furnish information as to what weeds there are in each district and what weeds each farmer has to contend with. The inspectors will also study systems of eradication especially suitable to the various districts. Each inspector, in co-operation with certain farmers, will conduct experiments on eradication, so that eventually the department will have information as to the best methods as applied to each district.

The new system contemplates at first enforcement of the weeds act, and the officials in charge will insist on the farmers keeping their summer-fallow clean, as well as their road allowances and fence lines. They will be urged to clean cultivation.

The department is making a strong bid also for the complete co-operation of the organized municipalities, who have their own weed inspectors, and also of the railroad companies. Letters have been written to all cities, towns and villages, and to the railway companies, who have promised full co-operation the important work.

Plans have also been made for a convention of the weed inspectors in the territories south of a line from Calgary to Empress. This convention will be held at Claresholm Agricultural School, June 12 and 13, and will be attended by the southern inspectors and officials of the department including Hon. G. Hoadley, minister of agriculture, H. A. Craig, deputy minister, W. J. Stephen, Crops commissioner, Dr. Talbot, provincial veterinarian, and J. C. Hooper, principal Claresholm Agricultural School, who will speak on Noxious Weeds. To this convention will be invited the municipal weed inspectors.

Another convention is to be arranged for the northern districts at a date and place to be announced. The municipal inspectors of the north will be invited to this meeting.

At these conventions study will be made of identification of weeds, as well as methods of eradication, and the noxious weed act and regulations.

The following are the weed inspectors appointed. These will be placed in territories other than those in which they reside: Harold R. Wooster, Calgary; Wm. R. Dick, Bassano; Howard Wright, Airdrie; Jas. L. Gordon, Calgary; Alex. Young, Namaka; R. Burrows, Countess; Angus A. Baker, Seven Persons; A. O. McNeil, Seven Persons; Geo. Dunn, Winnifred; D. W. Stephens, Gem; W. A. Hempell, Retlaw; C. M. Shell, Calgary; Harvey Harris, Retlaw; F. J. Bradshaw, Macgrath; A. Spence, Del Bonita; Geo. A. Ingram, Turin, P.O.; Hugh McLean, Macleod; A. R. Morrison, Okotoks; Wesley G. Smith, Brooks; John Walker, Edmonton.

Provision is made for the appointment of two divisional superintendents to supervise the work of the inspectors.

Domestic Animals By-Law.

Representatives of nine rural municipalities, conferring in the town of Vermilion last Saturday to reach an agreement on a uniform by-law covering the prohibition of animals running at large and grazing, were unanimous in recommending that the ban be placed on sheep grazing for the entire year. It was recommended that any uniform by-law adopted include a clause to this effect. This action is an endorsement of the stand taken by the provincial department of agriculture in enforcing the prohibition of sheep grazing in certain areas.

Recommendations were made at the conference covering grazing and running at large of other animals, and at the request of the representatives of the municipalities, the department of municipal affairs at Edmonton is now drafting a uniform by-law to be submitted to the councils of the various municipalities concerned for their approval.

Recommendations made at the conference briefly were as follows:

Prohibition of sheep, goats and geese the year round, over the whole municipality.

Prohibition of horses from December 1st to December 15th, inclusive, over the whole municipality.

Prohibition of cattle from December 1st to March 1st in the following year, over whole municipality.

Prohibition of bulls, stallions and jacks the year round over the whole municipality.

That seventy-five head including all animals, be the limit of the number any resident farmer should be permitted to have at large at any time within the municipality during the open period this to be the ratio per quarter section, the act at present putting the limit at 100 head.

That there be an arrangement between municipalities whereby cattle from one municipality be permitted to graze on unfenced lands of the adjoining municipality, subject to permit to be issued by the adjoining municipality, and such permit to be subject to the prohibitive periods.

The conference was attended on behalf of the government by Robert English and S. Williamson, officials of the department of municipal affairs. E. J. Enzenauer, member for Alexandra riding, was also present.

High Prices for Bonds.

United Irrigation district bonds to the extent of $450,000 were sold under the auspices of the Provincial Treasury department on Thursday to Carstens & Earles, Seattle, at the very high price of 102.27 which will bring about $12,000 premium on the bonds. This is one of the most satisfactory bond sales yet made. The issue is to cover construction of the United Irrigation project near Cardston.

TREE PLANTING IN DOMINION FORESTS.

Planting trees and sowing tree seed in Dominion forest reserves is done for two purposes; first, to restock the area with some desirable species, which has become extinct or nearly extinct through repeated fires in years gone by; and second, to furnish data as to the best methods of planting and seeding, the rate of growth, etc. These experimental plantings were greatly increased during the year. Approximately 58,000 Scotch pine, jack pine, and white spruce seedlings and transplants were set out in 27 plots aggregating about twenty acres. A large part of the planting stock was furnished from the Forest Nursery Station at Indian Head, Saskatchewan, and the remainder came from small nurseries established on various reserves. In addition to the above, nineteen experimental plots covering approximately twenty-five acres were sown with 70 pounds of tree seed, about evenly divided between white spruce and jack pine.—Annual Report, Director of Forestry, Ottawa.

Famous Quotations Wrongly Attributed

While there seems to be little doubt that it was Crashaw, and not the more famous Dryden, who originally wrote the line concerning the miracle at Cana, "The conscious water saw its God and blushed," it is a fact that of some famous lines it is difficult to name the author. Scott, we know, had a fashion of writing verses and ascribing them to "Old Song," which, perhaps, seemed to confer upon them an authority that he felt they might not otherwise achieve. Kipling frequently resorted to the trick, and there are scores of his epigrams and verses which he attributed to some non-existent author. Recently in the New York Times, Prof. Brander Matthews quoted Jules Lemaitre, the brilliant French critic, as saying, "Criticism of our contemporaries is not criticism; it is conversation." By a remarkable coincidence, the same quotation was used in the same issue by another distinguished writer, Richard Le Gallienne, but he attributed it to Prof. Saintsbury. Now Prof. Matthews arises to explain that he is sure he was right, though he admits he is unable to lay his hands on the article from which he quoted.

Biblical Quotations.

He argues that Saintsbury could never have said the thing, for his writings show that obviously he did not believe anything of the kind, and he proceeds to make some further interesting remarks upon the subject of unfamiliar quotations. An apt quotation is a valuable thing to a writer, and perhaps no quotations can be used with greater force than an occasional verse from the Bible. The only objections to Biblical quotations is that they are likely to be hackneyed. So long has the Bible been read and studied that it can hardly be hoped at this late date to yield new literary treasures. Sir James Barrie once remarked that whenever he desired to use a quotation he invariably looked it up in Bartlett, and if he found it there he didn't use it.

Hard to Find.

Prof. Matthews mentions a quotation which he used frequently, ascribing the words to Lowell, although they do not appear in any of his published works or letters. Lowell said, "The pressure of the atmosphere—you can't see it, but all the same it is sixteen pounds to the square inch." This is typically a Lowell epigram, and Prof. Matthews happens in this case to know exactly when the remark was made. It was made to Julian Hawthorne when he visited Lowell in connection with the latter's biography of Nathaniel Hawthorne, but has yet to appear in print except as a quotation. On the other hand, another of the things that Lowell wrote and which he admired, namely, his explanation that the old saying about truth lying at the bottom of the well was due to the fact that everyone who looks over the water sees his own face there, he used in two different articles.

Precious Jewels

It is said, also, that McCaulay used his striking expression about the New Zealand standing on a broken arch of London bridge two or three times in his anonymous contributions to the Edinburgh Review. One can well understand that the author of such a sentence might have the sensations of the mother of Moses, who took some precautions lest her precious son should be wholly lost. Some of Mark Twain's best things are not to be found in his published works, but in the reports of others who heard them from his lips. He was so rich a mine that he could be prodigal with humor. It was from Kipling, for instance, that we learn of Mark's saying, "Get your facts first; then you can distort them as much as you please."

Rescued From Obscurity.

There was a saying long attributed to Emerson, to the effect that if a man could do no more than make a better mouse trap than his neighbors, the world would make a beaten path to his door. It was the very essence of Emerson, but he did not say it. In an address delivered in 1911 by Lord Roseberry as Chancellor of the University of St. Andrews, he quoted what he called "a famous line," running, "Probatum est pious, but indubitably drunk." It is a fine line, but by no stretch of the imagination can it be called a famous one. In fact, the greatest research was necessary before its author could be tracked down. He proved to be Jeffrey Prowse, a writer for a weekly comic paper, to which W. S. Gilbert contributed. The line never was published by Prowse, and never would have seen the light but for the fact that Tom Hood, the younger, the editor of the magazine and a friend of Prowse's, in going over some notes for the purpose of preparing a memoir, found the rough copy of what was intended to be a humorous verse, ending with this couplet:

"His courtiers found him out at last,
Beneath the table sunk,
Probatum est pious, but indubitably drunk."

THE EMPRESS THEATRE CURRENT ATTRACTIONS

IVAN LINOW, WRESTLER, IN
THOMAS MEIGHAN'S BIG PIC-TURE "CAPPY RICKS."

Ivan Linow, the two hundred and thirty pound wrestler who has an important role with Thomas Meighan in "Cappy Ricks," a Paramount picture, which comes to the Empress Theatre next Friday and Saturday is strenuous. One of the last scenes in "Cappy Ricks" revealed Linow standing on the stern of a tug boat tossing a rope to a storm-tossed vessel in the offing. It was impossible to take the close-ups at sea where the remainder of the storm scenes were shot, and a set was built for this episode in the Paramount Eastern studio.

The stern of the tug was set in a tank of water twelve feet deep, and with a sprinkler system pouring its rain upon him and the wind from a giant propeller blowing him about. Linow stood ready to throw the rope. At the given word from Tom Forman, the director, he heaved the rope above his head, but his aim was bad.

The knotted end of the heavy line struck a spotlight operator who tumbled off his perch. Linow, also, came to grief. In throwing the rope he lost his balance and toppled over in the tank, from which he was fished sputtering much water and Russian profanity.

GASTON GLASS IN VIOLA DANA PLAY.

Frenchman of "Humoresque" Fame
In "There Are No Villains."

Gaston Glass, who will be seen next Monday and Tuesday at the Empress Theatre as leading man for Viola Dana in the Bayard Veiller production for Metro of "There Are No Villains," is the young actor who came into prominence in Fanny Hurst's "Humoresque." He is a Frenchman who came to the United States in support of Sarah Bernhardt in her last American tour. He had been a member of Bernhardt's company in Paris, where he also appeared in motion pictures, playing with Gaumont and Pate. In America he has appeared before the screen with Famous Players, Warner, and the World-Film productions.

In "Humoresque" he was the crippled boy. In "There Are No Villains," he is again a cripple, and during the production he came near to casting himself for the role of a cripple in private life. The crutch upon which he leans for support throughout the picture gave way one day when Mr. Glass was leaning heavily upon it. Result—a broken leg. The leg was nicely set, however, and Mr.

Glass was able to resume toddling to the tunes from his home phonograph. Others in Miss Dana's supporting cast include Edward Cecil, who played with Miss Dana in "The Offshore Pirate," "Cinderella's Twin" and "Blackmail," with Bert Lytell in "The Price of Redemption," and with May Allison in "Big Game"; De Witt Jennings, who was the detective in the stage productions of Bayard Veiller's plays, "Within the Law" and "The Thirteenth Chair"; Fred Kelsey and Jack Cosgrove. The photography is by John Arnold and the art direction by A. F. Mantz.

"There Are No Villains" is an adaptation by Mary O'Hara of Frank R. Adams's detective comedy romance.

BEBE DANIELS HAS BATHING EXPERIENCE.

Cold salt water baths may be very bracing and beneficial, but Bebe Daniels says that a whole day spent at it, just about Thanksgiving time, and using the Pacific Ocean as a bathtub, is far from her idea of bliss.

Miss Daniels is the star of "A Game Chicken," the Reelart Pictures production which comes to the Empress Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday. During the taking of a fire at sea, and abandonment of a run-running schooner which are shown in the picture, it was necessary for Miss Daniels and Pat O'Malley to jump into the chilly, blue brine several times, wearing their clothes, and to remain wet for several hours. About the time they'd get fairly comfortable by the galley stove, the call would come: "All ready, Miss Daniels, we'll take it again!"

Still, it's all in the day's work of a motion-picture star. The picture is filled with thrilling situations.

LEADING WOMAN IN
"CAPPY RICKS."

Agnes Ayres, Paramount's newest star, will have cause to remember her last appearance as a leading woman in a Paramount picture. She was elevated to stardom by Paramount while working as leading woman with Thomas Meighan in "Cappy Ricks," a compilation of Peter B. Kyne's breezy stories of the sea, which will be shown at the Empress Theatre, next Friday and Saturday.

The company directed by Tom Forman spent some time on the Maine coast off which the wreck scenes were made. After returning from the location Miss Ayres received instructions to report in Hollywood to begin her first picture as a star.

The "Cappy Ricks" company worked day and night for a week, with only a few hours between scenes, to complete the episodes in which Miss Ayres appears. The part of Florrie Ricks, heroine of the Kyne story, supplies Miss Ayres with one of her best screen characterizations. The support generally is excellent.

BEBE DANIELS AN ATHLETE IN NEW PICTURE.

A certain male star noted for his athletic and acrobatic abilities is advised to watch out that his laurels are not taken away by Bebe Daniels, star

Bebe Daniels in a Reelart
Production "A Game Chicken"
Empress Next Wednesday & Thursday

of "A Game Chicken" a new Reelart Picture Production which will be shown at the Empress theatre beginning Wednesday next.

In this picture, Miss Daniels will be seen to run the best of a case race for "stunt" honors. There are three dives over a wall and through a barn door, head first; there's a cock-fight (suitably modified for North American consumption); there's a ride on a bucking pony; and a thrilling fire at sea, all woven into the absorbing fabric of this gripping story by Nina Wilcox Putnam.

The supporting cast includes Pat O'Malley, Hugh Thompson, Gertrude Mattox, James Gordon and others.

BAYARD VEILLER'S CENSORSHIP
FABLE.

Bayard Veiller found time outside his duties as director of Viola Dana in "There Are No Villains," the Metro picture which will be seen next Monday and Tuesday, at the Empress theatre, to write a fable on the matter of censorship of motion pictures. This is not Mr. Veiller's first literary effort. Besides the fable he has to his credit the authorship of "Within the Law" and "The Thirteenth Chair," two of the most successful plays ever produced on the American stage.

"There Are No Villains" is based on a story by Frank R. Adams. Mary O'Hara adapted it, and John Arnold is the photographer.

As for Mr. Veiller's fable here it is: THE FABLE OF THE TAILOR AND THE CHILD-MAN CLOTHES.

By Bayard Veiller
I went to a tailor shop the other day and asked the tailor to make a suit of clothes for me which would fit a ten-year-old child and a man forty years of age.

He said such a thing was not possible and I told him that if he could not make that kind of clothes he would have to go out of business as that was the only kind of clothes that I would tolerate.

Whereupon he put me in the insane asylum.

Then a moving picture censor came to me and told me to make a picture which would suit a ten-year-old child and a man forty years of age equally well.

I explained that I could not do it and the censor told me that if I could not make that kind of a picture I would not be allowed to make any kind of pictures.

But when I tried to put him in the insane asylum they wouldn't let me do it.

Regular Meeting Town Council

The regular meeting of the town council was held in the council chambers on Monday evening, 5th instant.

Present: Mayor Fawcett, Councilors Morris, McNichol, Thewlis, Gardiner and McLeod.

Minutes of last meeting read and on motion adopted.

Messrs. Grier, Stedman and J. W. McDonald interviewed council regarding removal of the Mounted Police from the district.

The Health Officer's report for May was read and ordered filed. The by-law setting the rates for the current year was passed. Meeting then adjourned.

FAMOUS LANDMARKS OFFERED FOR SALE.

In the Times of London advertisements recently appeared of the offer for sale of two unusual properties, the Assembly Rooms at Bath and the Pantiles at Tunbridge Wells. The old Pantiles pavement, with its rows of ancient shops, and the Assembly, with its great dancing hall and its card and recreation rooms, are closely associated with the history of England's two oldest and most famous pleasure resorts. They have furnished the historian and novelist with a wealth of literary material, for British kings, queens and princes, statesmen, adventurers, belles and beaux trod the Pantiles and drank the waters of Tunbridge Wells, and society at Bath has danced and flirted in the Assembly and its predecessor for centuries. Lord Macaulay went as a boy to Tunbridge Wells and years afterward wrote his impression of the visit. Thackeray wrote much of both the Wells and Bath, and he left us some of the most graphic and humorous descriptions of the places and their visitors.

VIOLA DANA in
"THERE ARE NO VILLAINS"
EMPRESS MONDAY & TUESDAY

Loved by Thackeray.

He delighted especially in Tunbridge Wells, where a "hundred years since so much good company came to take its pleasure." He sent there two of his characters in "The Virginians," Colonel Wolfe and Harry Warrington. They met that delightful old adventurer Monsieur Poellnitz, who saluted Pope with "his great hat of lace and feathers"; they saw the novelist Samuel Richardson, author of "Clarissa"; Dr. Johnson, "a big, awkward, snuff-colored man," and Lord Chesterfield, "in a pearl-colored suit with his blue ribbon and star." Henrietta Maria, wife of Charles I., retired to Tunbridge Wells after the birth of her son Charles II, and Catherine of Braganza spent much time there, and Princess Anne made it her residence until she came to the throne. Queen Charlotte, no doubt "with her red cloak and pattens," frequently attended the assemblies at Bath. Sir Joshua Reynolds, the painter, and David Garrick, the actor, went often for rest and baths to this resort. Jane Austen had a cottage there, and Fanny Burney was buried in the city cemetery.

Pickwick at Bath.

Bath's old industry is mentioned in Chaucer's "Wife of Bath's Tale." Fielding found the original of Squire Allworthy in Ralph Allen, whose country seat is still standing near Bath. Quin, the actor, long a visitor at Bath, was buried in the Abbey Church, his gravestone bearing an inscription by Garrick, says the New York Herald. In this church too is a monument to William Bingham, an early United States Senator from Pennsylvania and one of the richest Americans of American Revolutionary times, who died at Bath in 1804. Charles Dickens sent Mr. Pickwick to Bath, and it was in one of the card rooms in the Assembly that Pickwick had that memorable rubber of whist with the Dowager Lady Snuphanup, Mrs. Colonel Wugsby and Miss Bolo, which ended so disastrously through Mr. Pickwick's poor playing that "Miss Bolo rose from the table considerably agitated and went straight home in a flood of tears and a sedan chair."

The Rule of Beau Nash.

Beau Nash was the greatest of all masters of ceremonies and he ruled at both Tunbridge Wells and Bath with a rod of iron. He wore a large cream-colored beaver hat as a kind of symbol of his office. His equipage was described as "a post chaise drawn by six grey horses with outriders, footmen, French horns and other necessary appendage of expensive parade." He made the aristocrats and the democrats dance together. One of the haughty Marchionesses of Queensberry had good reason to remember him, for when she came to the Assembly ball wearing an apron he took it off with the remark, "None but abigails appear here in white aprons." He would not allow swords to be worn at balls, and he strictly enforced every social custom. He greeted a booted and spurred young squire and begged to know if he had not forgotten something: "I see you have your boots, spurs and whip, but where is your horse?"

Vanished Splendor.
Bath owed much of its prosperity and its position in the heights of its social success to Beau Nash. It did not forget this debt, for the town granted him a pension when his own resources failed, gave him an expensive public funeral and erected a monument over his grave in its famous old Abbey Church. In the course of time easy and comfortable means of travel diverted the stream of pleasure-seeking guests to other waters and resorts and Tunbridge Wells and Bath lost much of their social prestige. On one of his last visits to Tunbridge Wells Thackeray says that fiddlers, harpers and trumpeters were playing in a weak little old balcony, and he asks: "Where the earls, duchesses, bishops and magnificently embroidered gamsters? A half dozen children and their nurses were listening to the musicians and an old lady or two passed,

"and for the rest I saw but an uninteresting population of native tradesmen." The story of Bath and Tunbridge Wells is that of many other famous pleasure resorts. Since the great days of Old Orchard, Long Branch and Saratoga, America has seen their sociologies eclipsed by Newport, Bar Harbor, Asheville and Palm Beach.

The fellow who slanders you is the fellow who has been hit hard and with reason.

Now rubber is so cheap the government ought to make the currency more elastic.

Samuel Gompers' announcement that Russia has sent an enormous bribe to the country will probably cause a lot of paper pulp mills to enter bids therefor.

HIGH-MILEAGE—DOUBLE-LIFE

- Q Dunlop leadership in Tiredom is most manifest. Mileage records almost unbelievable are piling up all over Canada.
- Q The Special Mileage-Making Process, which is the basis of our Fabric Tires, has worked wonders.
- Q Perfect shape and balance, stronger side walls to resist curb and rut abuse, special wear-resisting anti-skid tread, etc., add the last touch to popularizing to the full a tire that has long stood in high favor.
- Q Dunlop "Cords" made good from their inception.
- Q These tires taught motorists to expect more resiliency, greater air space, larger amount of material, better carrying capacity—in short, bigger mileage; and that is the standard by which all Cord Tires are judged to-day.

FREE SEED TESTS.

An Important Privilege Restored by the Dominion Minister of Agriculture.

Farmers and seed merchants will be gratified to hear that the Dominion Minister of Agriculture, Hon. W. R.

Motherwell, has determined to restore the privilege of having seed tested at the government laboratories free of charge to the extent of ten samples from each applicant. This free privilege covers a period extending from the first day of May in one year to the last day of January in the succeeding year. During the months of February, March and April a fee of fifty cents for each test will continue to be made owing to the contention that usually occurs at that period due to the testing of trade samples, and samples submitted by Seed Inspectors under the Seed Control Act.

While the free privilege is open to all the vitality of seed can be readily ascertained by farmers and others by grains in a flower pot or box of soil, which is kept moist, but not wet, and the pot or box placed in a sunny window, but not subjected to either excessive heat or cold.

Laboratories for seed investigation, conducted by the Seed Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, are established at Ottawa, Winnipeg and Calgary, but there are also district inspectors having headquarters at Truro, N.S., for the Maritime provinces, at Quebec City for Quebec Province, and at Toronto for Western Ontario; Ottawa serves for Eastern Ontario, Winnipeg for Manitoba and Saskatchewan, and Calgary for Alberta and British Columbia.

Stretching the truth is something like stretching elastic. The rebound is apt to be disconcerting.

Even the thinnest of men found that they had to fill out their forms in connection with the income tax, and yet, strange to say, the work proved so arduous that it tended to thin most forms.

Lady Astor recently remarked, "Half the time you men are doing nothing, but following mere clothes." That's in the billing and cooing stage. After marriage, when the dress charges come in, it is all billing.

"You say you've worn this hat three years," said the hatter. "Wonderful! It looks like new." "Yes, three years I've worn it," said the customer. "Once I had it rebeked, twice I got it cleaned, and once I changed it in a restaurant for a brand new one."

Mary Pickford is heading a club of motion picture actresses, the purpose being to protect the good names of its members. Those not a credit to the industry will be excluded. But where does Mary draw the line? For instance how many ex-husbands may a movie actress have and still be eligible?

A New York broker has accused an actress of abducting him and keeping him prisoner in her apartment for three days. The forays that feminists are making into hitherto purely masculine fields of endeavor are beginning to worry us. We wonder if there is not some respectable, middle-aged married man who wants a job as chaperon.

Scientist discovers a new and cheap fertilizer, says an exchange. Which reminds us of a story regarding Horace Greeley, the great editor of the New York Tribune. That paper ran a question and answer column for farmers. One day a query was received as to what was the best thing to put on potatoes. Greeley, in the absence of the farm editor, undertook to answer the query himself, which he did in the following words: "Tastes differ, but I like butter on mine."

They Who Dance Must Pay Fiddler

People Cannot Take More Out of a Community Than They Put In.

COLLAPSE IS INEVITABLE.

Town Will Not Survive Long If Its Commercial Structure Is Torn Down Faster Than It
Can Be Built Up.

(Copyright.)

He who dances must pay the fiddler. That is an old saying which is full of truth. The primary idea in this saying, of course, is that one cannot have any pleasure without paying for it in some way, but this is not the only sense in which it may be construed. It means that we cannot pursue any foolish policy indefinitely without paying for it in the end.

No man can overtax his physical strength indefinitely without risking ultimate disaster. Dissipation or overwork may be continued for a time without any noticeable results, but if continued for a sufficiently long time the inevitable comes to pass. The laws of nature cannot be violated with impunity. If one takes out of life more than he puts in, if he tears down his physical strength faster than he builds it up, he must eventually pay the fiddler.

What is true of the laws of nature is equally true of economic laws. The people of a community may for a time tear down the commercial structure of a town faster than they build it up without meeting disaster, but it cannot be continued indefinitely. In the end they must pay the fiddler.

Exhaust Resources of Community.

The person who makes his living in a community, receiving the money of the community for his labor or the products of his labor, and then spends his income outside of his community is helping to exhaust the resources of the community just as the man who expends his energy through dissipation or overexertion faster than he builds it up is exhausting his physical resources. One man may do this, of course, without noticeably affecting the economic strength of the community, but when a dozen men or women do it the effect becomes noticeable and when a hundred do it the resources of the community become exhausted to the point where collapse is inevitable. Those who are responsible for this situation may think that they have profited individually by their actions, but they have not realized that in the end they must pay the fiddler.

There are some persons who seem to be able to get through life without much effort. There are some who proceed on the theory that the world owes them a living and they proceed to collect it. They take what they can get and give nothing in return. Such persons, however, are not very numerous. Most of us must pay for everything that we get. Some may have to pay more than their share and these are carrying the burden of those who get more than they pay for. The fact remains that, as a general rule, one cannot have much worth while without paying for it.

The merchants of any community are the backbone of that community, so far as its prosperity and progress are concerned. Individually there may be some of them who do not exert themselves to boost their community, but collectively they are the men upon whom the living of every person in the community depends. The success or failure of an individual merchant may not be of particular concern to the people of a community, but the success or failure of the merchants as a whole is a matter of the very greatest concern.

Provide Market For Farmers.

The merchants of a town, in the first place, provide a market for a large part of the products of the farmers in the territory surrounding the town. They buy the produce of the farmers in small quantities, in accordance with their need, and some of them buy in larger quantities for shipment to foreign markets. If the merchants could not do this there would be no market at least for the small quantities except at ruinous prices. If the farmers could not realize a reasonable profit from their products, there would be no money for them to spend, and there could be no money to pay for your products or to pay for your labor. It is therefore of the greatest importance to every member of the community, whether a resident of the town or a farmer in the country surrounding the town, that the merchants be enabled to provide this market for at least a part of the farmer's products.

Every dollar sent away from a town to a mail order house helps to diminish the ability of the local merchants to provide a market for the farmer's products or to do any of the many other things which the merchants of every town do for their community.

Business in a community cannot be conducted on a one-sided basis. A man cannot take out of his community a good living for himself and family and give nothing in return. He may do so for a short time and get away with it, but in the end he must pay the fiddler.

THE BEST POLICY.

It is better to be persimmonious than dishonest.

Farmers want hands, but workless city men refuse to leave the cities. There has been too much babying, and too many free meals.

The Macleod concerns listed here, conscious of the fact that thousands of dollars are being sent out of this territory for merchandise that can be bought at home, have launched a campaign in the hope that it will create a stronger feeling of community interest—a sentiment most vital for the prosperity of the entire community. In bold type you therefore read the slogan that they propose to popularize "TRADE IN YOUR HOME TOWN."

The time for consideration of this question could not be more opportune than the present. "Preparedness," the watchword of Canada, should begin at home and can be exemplified in no more far-reaching manner than by real co-operation in this vitally important "TRADE AT HOME" movement. It is a thought that should be taken to heart and given consideration by every person who earns their living in, or owes their success to, this community.

This campaign is launched in the firm belief that the people of this community will follow the dictates of their good sense, and bring the "TRADE AT HOME CAMPAIGN" to an actuality that will be of vast benefit to the entire territory.

This movement is no selfish propaganda of these progressive concerns who have combined in co-operative community appeal. They urge that you read the brief message they will give you each week through the columns of The Times.

The firm resolve to "TRADE AT HOME" will not only help the retail merchants, but the manufacturer and jobber, the farmers adjacent to our town, and it will also help in every line of business. It will either directly or indirectly benefit every individual of this section.

HOW THE FAKERS WORK AT SEANCES.

Joseph H. Rinn, of New York, is a member of the American Society of Magicians, to which belong the chief prestidigitators of the United States, and is an amateur magician of parts. He is also a sworn enemy and exposé of spiritist mediums. Never a prominent spiritist appears in his neighborhood whom he does not challenge, and, of course, he did not except Conan Doyle, who is about to appear in the city of Toronto, and who has been lecturing in the United States for a few weeks past. Mr. Rinn says that in all his investigations he has never found the slightest evidence that spiritist seances are what they pretend to be.

VETERANS' APPEAL FOR MEMBERSHIP

Whether the Macleod G. W. V. A. will be able to carry on or not will depend largely on the support given by those who are entitled to membership within its ranks. It is a well-known fact that ever since the conception the association has generously directed its activities towards War Widows, Soldiers' Dependents and Veterans regardless of any connection with the Association. The G. W. V. A. feels that its record of achievements must strongly appeal to all who served and are eligible for membership. The Executive of the Local Branch wishes to appeal to all returned soldiers to join the association on the grounds that it is only fair for all to share in the responsibility of maintaining the activities of the organization. Records show that while there are approximately 50,000 Veterans in Alberta, only half that number have paid membership dues. For a small annual membership fee of $2.00 the greatest organization of veterans in Canada has conducted its self-appointed task and can with honesty point with pride to achievements as follows:—Obtained 50% increase in pension after repeated effort, obtained concessions for amputation and T. B. cases, secured Government Insurance for Veterans and War Widows, obtained numerous amendments to Soldiers' Settlement Act and Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment regulations, secured increased clothing allowances on discharge, secured increases in pay for vocational students, men under treatment and pensioners being re-boarded, secured refunds of transportation for dependents, secured many concessions for men of the Imperial army and their dependents who resided in Canada previous to the war, assisted veterans and their dependents when in distress by financial loans and grants, obtained legislation to insure that no companion would have to be buried by a charitable organization, arranged funerals for all deceased comrades, made every possible effort to insure that no dependents of soldiers shall be exposed to undue suffering through their breadwinners service. In addition to the above the G. W. V. A. provides club rooms throughout the Dominion where a veteran is always assured of a warm welcome and any advice or assistance he may be in need of. All soldiers while serving were willing to give a helping hand to any comrade who through wounds or other misfortune required it and that spirit maintains in the Association today. Every surviving veteran has a sacred duty to perform. Those who cannot spare the time to give personal service can still extend very real support by joining the G. W. V. A., and with their membership fees assist in maintaining the organization financially. The Local Association appeals to every Veteran in the Macleod district to join the association and ensure that everything possible is being done to assist the men who gave when their country called. The work must be carried on. $2.00 will bring all previous members into good standing, outstanding dues rescinded.

EXECUTIVE G.W.V.A., Macleod.

The Seance.

Recently he gave the New York Herald an account of what he alleges is a typical spiritist seance, a cabinet seance, as it is called, wherein a spirit is brought from a cabinet and performs ghostly tricks. This is a common spiritist phenomenon, and, as a rule, greatly impresses those who see it for the first time or do not understand how it is done. As a rule, there are a couple of confederates, the medium and one other member of the audience, the latter being often the master of ceremonies or person under whose auspices the seance is being held. The audience in this typical seance, says Mr. Rinn, will be made up of three classes. There will be those who believe, those who do not believe, and those who do not know whether they believe. There will be those who approach the critical moments in flippant pretence, and these, he says, are usually the true believers. There is always a conversational prelude, which is as necessary, if there is to be a successful manifestation, as is the tuning up of the instruments before a concert. It is necessary not only for the instruments, but for the performers as well, that they may be brought into the proper musical mood.

The Lights Go Out.

There is the hushed talk about spirits, the certainty that they appear, and the impossibility of them appearing. The medium, as likely as not, will be rather jocular, and will assure the gathering that there is nothing gloomy about spirits, and that gaiety is not out of place. When it is deemed that the proper atmosphere has been created, the lights are turned out, only one small dimmed jet or lamp being left burning. The idea that ghosts will appear only in the dark is a superstition, says Mr. Rinn, that has served the spiritists well for many centuries. In fact it is the darkness that permits the fake mediums to operate. The medium is seated in a chair, slightly withdrawn from the circle, and is just dimly visible. There is a cabinet, or recess, formed of dark cloth which will not reflect the faintest gleam of light behind her, and she proceeds to fall into a trance. Previous to the seance the medium, usually a woman, has provided herself with a roll of gauze, which has been treated with phosphorescent paint. This can be held in her hand or concealed in her dress. The gauze has been shaped like a loose, flowing gown, with openings for arms.

The Apparition.

Since everybody knows that the demonstration is to take place in the cabinet, the soft-footed medium finds it not difficult to slip from her seat while all eyes are fastened upon another part of the room. The master of ceremonies then proceeds to call for the spirit. What appears first is something mysteriously glowing on the floor. It is the rolled-up gauze which the medium has deposited, her hand clad in a black glove. At this moment the last remaining light in the room is extinguished, and there is dense blackness, except what comes from the cabinet. Gradually the medium unrolls the glowing gauze, which seems to grow into a larger ball. The gauze is manipulated until the spectators believe they see something rising from the floor, which gradually takes human shape as the medium thrusts her arms into the apertures, and draws the hood over her head and face. What happens subsequently varies in each case. But what the spectators see is supposed to be the spirit that has been invoked. It may be a spirit that nobody identifies. It may be claimed by the master of ceremonies, or, if nobody else is credulous enough to recognize it, the spirit may announce itself as Robert Ingersoll or William Shakespeare.

The Trick.

Questions are put and answered. Then the spirit gives signs of disappearing, caused by the medium divesting herself of the gown and rolling it up again. Once more the spectators see something glowing on the floor, and as they gaze the medium slips back into her chair. It is now the business of the confederates to operate. This he does by means of a slender collapsible steel rod, divided into twenty sections, so equipped that it can be extended or contracted at will by the pressure of the hand. He has also a rubber glove coated with phosphorus, made into the form of a hand by inflation. This is covered with a black handkerchief, to the corner of which is attached a thread, which pays out as the rod is quickly extended. The concealed hand is thrust up over the heads of the gathering into the middle of the room, the handkerchief is suddenly withdrawn, and there the wonderers see floating, apparently, a human hand. Gradually it descends, and, by means of tiny hooks, fastens upon the glowing ball. Holding the gauze, once more rolled tight, the hand flickers about the room, eventually dropping in the lap of the medium, who quickly conceals the glove and the steel rod. The medium sighs. The seance is at an end.

Social Note:—Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, who a year ago left the ministry of Sandwich, Ont., to become a liquor enforcement officer and who killed a suspect, is about to re-enter the pulpit.

Red Cross Notes

The Champion Consolidated School unit of the Junior Red Cross recently raised $30.00 for the new Children's Hospital in Calgary, by holding a tea. Like the other junior branches, they are keen to be at the top of the list in supporting the new hospital, in which twenty-four patients have been cared for since it was opened.

In the few weeks that the new Children's Hospital has been opened, children representing eleven different nationalities have been admitted.

The Junior Red Cross members at Severn Creek School recently raised $25.00 for the Children's Hospital when they held a very successful bazaar.

The Junior at Foremost have been doing good work to help the local Red Cross hospital at that place. Not only have they kept the matron supplied with books for the patients, but they have given a large quantity of dainties such as fresh eggs, chickens, butter, honey and fruit.

The Juniors at Hurstbourne School have a very active Health Club and there is very keen competition for the highest marks among the members.

The government has passed regulations whereby the new Canadian coat of arms replaces the shield at present in use on the Canadian Red ensign flown on the ships of the navy and those in the Canadian government service.

At this parade gun layers and signallers will be selected. Any members of the battery who acted in this capacity last year are requested to report to the Battery Sergeant-Major if they will be available for the camp at Calgary, commencing on July 24th.

PRAYER.

Dear Lord, give us patience and with us abide.
They've taken our grog and they're after our hide.
Give us that calm which is purer than snow.

When our pipe follows grog from our world here below.
Give us that patience that won't run away.

When Maggie makes pancakes that's soggy as clay,
When Gilda comes home from a five o'clock "Tea"

At a quarter to eight and we're blue as the sea—
Oh, Lord, give us patience as none ever saw,

Or protect Thou the life of our militant frau,
With patience, persistence, our soul overwhelm.

Extract of patience, for Mag's at the helm.

The Bow Island gas wells are being given a rest, cleaned and repaired, and will not be used until late in the summer. In the meantime gas from a well drilled near Okotoks, which is what is called a wet gas, is being used. It was turned into the mains last Sunday and at once made its presence known. It contains a large amount of sulphur and is sulphuretted to a high degree. The new gas burns with much greater heat than did the old gas, but Ye Gods and Little Fishes, what a stench! The nasty remarks made concerning the gas and the gas company did not alter the situation any. Serious leakages in the pipes were discovered and these being corrected the smell became less noticeable.

ENGLISH STATESMEN WHO LOVED THE TURF.

It is significant to note that in a recent issue of the London Spectator the leading book review is written by the editor, J. St. Lee Strachey, and that the book reviewed is entitled "Chapters From Turf History" by "Newmarket." As all the world knows the Spectator is perhaps the most respected political and literary weekly in the world, but it may not be so well known that Mr. Strachey is quite as famed as an outstanding layman of the Church of England as he is known as the editor of the Spectator. He is essentially a religious and serious-minded man, and at a time when horse racing and the warring that accompanies it are being so violently assailed in Canada on grounds of morality it is worth while noting that Mr. Strachey confesses to finding keen pleasure in reading a book which is wholly concerned with horse racing and betting. He evidently is one of that great body of Old Countrymen who delight in the spectacle of a horse race and who feel it to be no mortal sin to make a bet which one can afford to lose.

Statesmen as Racing Men.

One of "Newmarket's" most interesting chapters is that devoted to "Prime Ministers and Their Race-horses," another significant indication of the kind of Englishman who finds his keenest delight in the breeding and racing of horses. Lord Rockingham was the first of the Prime Ministers who won distinction on the turf, his best horse being Bay Malton. This horse had the honor of beating the famous Gimerack, the little grey who won 25 races and is the patron saint of the Gimerack Club. Mr. Strachey evidently has his own independent ideas about race horses for he says that the smaller a horse is the better and that if you ever hear of great feats of speed or endurance in a horse you are almost certain to find that he or she is not more than fifteen hands. Gimerack was a shade more than fourteen hands. If this is a safe rule to go upon many modern instances might be cited in contradiction of it. Man-O-War, for example, is 16 hands, if not more.

Palmerston a Devotee.

The Duke of Grafton was a racing man, and Palmerston, though he did not have much success on the turf, was devoted to it, and would leave a debate at any moment to talk to his trainer in the lobby. He had high hopes of winning a Derby with Maidstone, the year that Thorneby won, and his only consolation was that the leader of the Opposition shared in the same defeat with Cape Flyaway. An amusing account is given of Palmerston moving that the House should adjourn over Derby Day on the ground that to do so was an unwritten law and that His Majesty's Government did not wish to "depart from so wholesome a custom." A few days later when Gladstone, a member of his Cabinet, expressed bitter disappointment over the defeat in the Lords of a pet measure, Palmerston retorted, "Of course, you are mortified and disappointed, but your disappointment is nothing to mine, who had a horse with whom I hoped to win the Derby and he went amiss at the last moment."

Devonshire's Delight.

The late Duke of Devonshire perhaps took more interest in the Turf than in anything else. He devoted vast sums to building up a great stable, but won only one of the classic races, that being the Oaks, if memory serves. Of him the author writes: "The statesman who refused three times to be Prime Minister, and who wrote of the possible succession of Spring Coulee is bidding for a place of fame with a brand new flowing well. It is really a most remarkable well and scores of people from miles around viewed the enormous flow of sparkling water. Gladstone that "it really will be a great thing to be out of it," would gladly have given his life instead of his leisure to the prosecution of the sport of racing. In the House of Commons he yawned in the course of his own speech; at Newmarket he was

The Council will represent fruit growers, vegetable growers, fruit package manufacturers, florists and gardeners, nurserymen, wholesale fruit and vegetable dealers, jam manufacturers, canners, and horticultural associations. The object of the Council is to promote the interest of all matters tending towards the improvement of these various industries concerned with the horticultural branch of agriculture.

The Council shall consist of fourteen representatives, three of which shall represent the fruit growers, three the vegetable growers, two the wholesale fruit and vegetable dealers, and one each the package manufacturers, florists and gardeners, jam manufacturers, canners, nurserymen, and amateur horticulturists.

The organization expenses are being met by a federal grant of $5,000. For carrying on the work hereafter the various interests shall provide annual membership fees.

The following officers were elected:—President, Col. H. L. Roberts, Grimshy, Ont., 1st vice-pres., F. W. Bishop, Kempville, N.S., 2nd vice-pres., R. R. Scott, Winnipeg, Man., Sec.-treas., L. F. Burrows, Asst. Fruit Commissioner, Ottawa. Directors: W. E. Groves, Hamilton, Ont., W. H. Stewart, Aylmer, Que., Jas. Wagstaffe, Hamilton, Ont., Mr. W. T. McCoun, Dominion Horticulturist, was elected chairman of the standing committees on plant registration. Mr. G. E. McIntosh, Transportation specialist in the Fruit branch, Ottawa, was elected chairman of the transportation committee. Mr. C. W. Baxter, Fruit Commissioner, is chairman of the legislation committee, and Mr. E. B. Luke, of Montreal, chairman of the publicity committee.

Roseberry and Gully.

Lord Roseberry was the most successful racing man among Britain's statesmen, winning no fewer than three Derbys, the first while he was Prime Minister. It is said of him that as a boy he had three ambitions, to win the Derby, to marry the richest heiress in England, and to become Prime Minister, one of which he attained. Mr. Gully, one of the most famous speakers of the House of Commons, was a great racing man and a tremendous bettor. On the Ledger, won by Matilda, his horse Mameluke finished second and probably would have won with a fair start. It was suspected that this race was crooked, but though Gully lost forty-five thousand pounds, he paid without a whimper.

DRY GOODS, BOOTS, SHOES
GROCERIES, Etc.

This hot weather has been a little trying to the nerves. One only buys what is necessary. You go to the dining table with listless indifference and turn up your nose at what is displayed. Groceries are sold at such small profits, so whatever cuts are advertised the difference is so small that any merchant will allow the few cents in your favor. Just for peace and quietness we sympathize with your jaded appetites, so will have an extra salad display next Saturday. All kinds of fruits, every variety of green stuff grown here or in the balmy south. We are getting spring blood purifiers, Nature's Medicine—Spinach, Asparagus, Young Carrots, not forgetting the succulent spring onions.

We are dividing our profits with you in Dry Goods, Boots and Shoes till such time as the verdict is given: "What shall the harvest be." As it is farmers and storekeepers are only existing—neither of us can afford luxuries. We only pray that things will soon come back to normal again. But still taxes are going up and the end is not in sight.

We are glad to see how many people are buying Butterick Patterns and making their own clothes for the mother, children and even shirts for the father. We will help you as much as possible by giving you as near cost as possible with as comprehensive range of materials at the best possible prices.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL NEWS

H. Burns, of Blairmore, was in Macleod on Friday.

The Rev. W. J. Merrick returned on Friday of last week from a short visit to his brother at Great Falls, Mont.

T. S. McLean left on Tuesday for Winnipeg, where he will attend the Presbyterian General Assembly being held in that city.

N. Sutherland, chief surveyor from the Dominion Survey Camp, Champion, Alta., was a visitor in Macleod on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Hugh McLean, who was appointed Weed Inspector of the Foremost district, left for that district on Tuesday. He will attend the convention of weed inspectors to be held at the Claresholm School of Agriculture.

The Agricultural Society's fall fair Prize List has been issued. The fair this year will be held Thursday and Friday, August 3rd and 4th. A copy of the Prize List may be had on application to the secretary, R. J. E. Gardiner.

St. Paul's School Annual Field Day and Sports will be held on Monday, June 19th. The Junior W. A. will also hold their Annual Sale of Work on the same date. Visitors from Eastern Canada are expected who will open the proceedings and present the annual prizes.

It is said that a few farmers have neglected to prepare land for an oat crop, fearing damage by the grasshoppers. This is not good business. Feed will be wanted for the coming winter and farmers are not as a rule prepared to buy. Better take a chance anyway.

The foundation for the monument to be erected in honor of those who fell in the great war, is being put in, as well as the emplacements for the two captured German guns which are to be placed on either side of it. The site selected is on the west side of the town square, close to Second Avenue. A better site could not have been selected.

Mrs. J. Swinerton will not receive on June 8th, nor again this season.

J. Rothney, who has been on the sick list for the past two weeks is now on the mend.

The Rev. W. J. Merrick left for Calgary this morning to attend a meeting of the Diocesan Executive Committee.

Twenty weed inspectors have been appointed for South Alberta. The men appointed will devote all their time to the work in hand, being sent to districts to which they are strangers.

R. E. Woodward attended the Shriner picnic Sunday and Ceremonial on Monday in Calgary. Shriners in large numbers, on their way to Californian coast cities, made a very pleasant stop-over at Calgary.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce Farm News Letter has just been issued. Of especial interest at the present time is an article entitled: "Irrigation, its use and abuse," from the pen of T. W. Hams, Taber, Alberta. Read it and get posted.

It is said that the bug which is cutting the wheat in the Glenwood, Pincher Creek and Brockton Districts is reported by government entomologists to be the false chinch-bug and not the flea beetle, as was at first reported. No further damage has been reported.

Rev. J. Kennedy, of Macleod, left for Winnipeg on Sunday last to be present at the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Canada, which opened on Wednesday of this week in that city. Mr. Wray, of Lethbridge, will occupy the pulpit of St. Andrew's Church next Sunday.

It is persistently rumored that two hundred men of Lord Strathcona's Horse, at present in barracks at Calgary, are to be removed to Macleod and will occupy the buildings to be soon vacated by our old-time friends, the members of the R. C. M. Police. While there are quite a number here who scoff at the report, the report persists nevertheless.

A new record established. In 305 days Queen Beulah, a Holstein cow owned by Dr. H. Clark, of Brockville, has established a new Canadian record for mature cows, giving 957 and a half pounds of butter from 21,284 pounds of milk. This is the type of animal Macleod dairymen will own in the coming days of irrigation, when dairying will become a leading feature in the farmer's life.

Supt. Pennefather of the R. C. M. Police has been retired after 38 years service in the force. He is well known to all old timers here, having belonged to the force in Macleod in 1898. Asst. Commissioner Wroughton, of Vancouver, Supt. Tucker of Yukon, Supt. West of Prince Albert, Surgeon Fraser of Ottawa, Veterinary-Surgeon Burnett of Regina, Insp. Raven of Weyburn and Insp. Sweetapple of Battleford, are also among those due for retirement.

Mrs. Grady received the sad news on Wednesday of the death of her father, John O'Donnell, which occurred early Wednesday morning, at Halifax N.S. Mr. O'Donnell was in his 86th year. He was born in Ireland, coming to Canada when a young man, and locating in Halifax, following up his trade as a tailor, in which city he has since resided. He leaves a wife, three daughters and one son, all of whom reside in Halifax, with the exception of Mrs. Grady.

Is Macleod willing to permit the Mounted Police to be taken away from this district without registering a note of protest? The departure of the police is also of serious import to the rural population. What are they aiming to do in this matter? Will their lives and property be as safe as heretofore? It is up to the people of Macleod and District to get busy and make their wishes known. The removal of Mounted Police married men and their families from this post will materially reduce the attendance at both Sabbath and public schools, which is to be regretted.

The Old Man river is rising rapidly.

The rain continues! Hail to the rain!

Mrs. Charles Hyssop, of Lethbridge, is dead at the age of 48 years, the death occurring on Sunday last. The cause of death was a cancer. The deceased was at one time a resident of Macleod, removing to Lethbridge in 1886. She is survived by her husband and three sons, Oliver, Walter and Ralph. Her mother, Mrs. J. Glass, was with her when the end came. A sister, Mrs. W. H. McNab, Macleod, and two brothers, W. J. Glass of Calgary and Herb. Glass of Brooks, survive her.

The highway leading out to the Waterton Lakes is reported as being in anything but good shape. Tourist traffic over this highway between the Lakes and Banff is very heavy at certain seasons of the year. Reports circulated by tourists concerning the condition of all roads carry far and fast. If the trails are reported to be in bad condition for motor traffic depend upon it that particular section is given a wide berth. What action will be taken in this very important matter.

Farmers all over the country are striving hard to get the upper hand of the grasshopper pest, and mixing stations are being kept busy supplying the poisoned mixture to farmers whose lands have been invaded, in some cases running day and night, Sundays included. The reports of the ravages of these pests as yet are not very alarming, but in certain sections they are reported as being very numerous. At present the insects are at work on the grass lands where they were hatched out. Later on, if not checked, they will move onto the grain fields when it will be next to impossible to control them. Now is the time to get after them before they have arrived at the winged stage. The old saying "an ounce of prevention" applies in this case.

Grasshoppers are said to be real bad—in spots. Luckily the places infested are widely scattered, making it a fairly easy matter to handle the territory infested. If this were not so, farmers would be up against it for fair. A grasshopper story, trickling in from the south country, appeared last week. A neighbor of the man who lost his manure pile wrote: "The Russian thistle were growing rapidly. Having a little spare time on his hands the rancher decided to cut some of them down. He must use a scythe, and of course the implement must be sharpened. But, alas! the grindstone had vanished, the hoppers having literally chewed it up in an endeavor to get a edge on their teeth in order to be able to devour the scythe. Yes, the grasshoppers are said to be real bad—in spots."

It has been decided by the powers that be that Macleod, the old historic landmark, has no further need of the services of the R.C.M. Police, and orders have been received to abandon the barracks here. The members of "M" Division now doing duty here will be attached to the division stationed in Lethbridge. Ever since the police came to the country Macleod has been an important divisional point for a considerable time two troops being stationed here. Situated as we are in the very centre of the Indian Country, the order to remove the police is extremely ill-advised. In the past the near presence of the police has been sufficient to prevent acts of violence by white or red. What is going to happen with the police removed is the question asked by all old-timers in the neighborhood, and there is a note of apprehension in the query.

Reports of cutworm damage around Retlaw continue. There is other news of a more cheering nature, however, in this connection. The large black beetle which has been so numerous in this part for three or four years, and which preys upon the worm, has appeared there in large numbers. These beetles seem to know just where to look for the worm which, during the daytime remains hidden in the soil. It is interesting to watch the beetle work. He moves rapidly over the ground. Suddenly he comes to a sudden stop and begins digging away in the loose earth. Watch him closely for a minute and you will see him unearth a pale greenish colored worm, into which he apparently sinks a sharp

Department of Municipal Affairs

NOTICE is hereby given that unless all arrears of taxes imposed in respect of any parcel of land situated in Improvement Districts No. 71, 100, 101, 130 and 131, are paid on or before the First day of July next, such land will be dealt with under the provisions of the Tax Recovery Act, 1922, with a view to obtaining Certificate of Title in the name of the Crown in the right of the Province of Alberta in respect of such parcel.

get of teeth. Some say the beetle sucks the creature's blood, while others claim he is depositing eggs which later on hatch out in the worm's body. Be that as it may, the frightened worm makes most vigorous efforts to dislodge the beetle, but all in vain. And it would appear from that time on the name of the worm is Dennis.

Upward of $10,000 has already been spent in relief amongst the striking miners of Drumheller. Latest reports indicate that the mines may re-open about the middle of June.

Blessed is the man who can get others to do his work for him.

He who thinks he will fail probably will, which is just another way of saying that a faint heart never won a good job.

Noah tried to get people to come in out of the wet and the Genoa conference was also designed to secure immunity from a threatened storm.

Conan Doyle says that you may have spirits in your home without knowing it. Not all of the upheaval you see in some houses after this, will be due to the annual spring cleaning.
